Monthly Planning Sessions

Note any exceptions, such as your husband being home, that may break your routines.

Pass on tasks that consume your time to older children as soon as they are ready. This will benefit both of you.

Reduce gridlock by becoming more efficient. Fill your freezer with prepared meals at the beginning of the school year to reduce the time crunch around dinner time.

Follow these steps in filling out the Monthly Planner pages:

- ✓ Review the prior month's plan and recall God's specific demonstrations of faithfulness and grace.
- ✓ Cultivate thankfulness for His activity.
- ✓ Schedule down time. God designed us to need rest.
- ✓ Use the Family Priorities form as your prayer list—ask God to supply the growth in these areas over the next month.
- ✓ Next, block out time on the new month for your priorities.
- ✓ Troubleshoot scheduling gridlock.
- ✓ Prayerfully consider if all your commitments are from God.
- ✓ Thank God for the abundant grace He will give you to faithfully complete these commitments.

Weekly Planning Breaks

Follow these steps in filling out the Weekly Planner pages:

- ✓ Begin each week with a planning session in a quiet place.
- ✓ Start by recounting God's faithfulness during the prior week.
- ✓ Commit to make God's Word a central part of your plan for peace.
- ✓ Consider the areas where you are most vulnerable. Prayerfully outline a battle plan to overcome temptation.
- ✓ A list of fighter verses is available free of charge at DesiringGod.org.

Week of: _____

Bless this family. May those of us who are at the head of it, walk within our house with a perfect heart, and set no wicked thing before our eyes. May we have a testimony in the bosoms of those who have the best opportunities of observing us, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by thy grace, we have our conversation in the world, and more especially to them-ward.
William Jay (Prayers for the Use of Families)

Bible Plan Matthew 4 - 8
Psalm 85 - 91
Proverb 24

Battle Plan
1. 10 minute brisk walk each morning
2. Pray through beatitudes
3. Everyone up by 7:15 AM
4. Recount the day's victories at supper table

Prayers
For you, O Lord, are good and forgiving, abounding in steadfast love to all who call upon you. Give ear, O LORD, to my prayer; listen to my plea for grace. In the day of my trouble, call upon you, for you answer me. Psalm 86:1-7 (ESV)

1. Lord, deepen my love for you.
2. Heal Dean, and give his family faith for the trial.
3. Grant me more patience when helping Timmy with his math homework.
4. Visa clearances for the R. family in Central Asia

Hospitality/Outreach
1. Invite one of the college students to spend Thanksgiving break with us.
2. Check in on Mr. Allen next door. Have Sally take over a loaf of her homemade bread.

This Week's Memorable Moments

Memorable Moments

The field trip to Middlecreek Wildlife Center - saw over 20 species of migrating birds and learned how we can set up a monarch warstation in the backyard. The kids really were interested.

Mr. Conarish gave a talk at co-op on the Native American tribes who lived along the Susquehanna River and he showed the kids his arrowhead collection.

Hiked the Horseshoe Trail after church with the Beers and Kauchs - a beautiful Fall day

Victories/Signs

Tim - completed 5 pp. of math and read the Sholeh trilogy this week.

Sally - finally scored 85% on her math exam - and completed the week's lesson on Wee!

- she perfected her multi-grain bread recipe.

Family funnies - Victories - Progress - Promising signs - Small beginnings - Finished projects - etc.

Evidence of God's Grace

Susan gave us a beautiful dress of Alison's for Sally to wear to the wedding - Tom's boss gave him permission to leave work early on Fridays so he can teach that class at the co-op - Tim did his chores for the week completely and without being reminded. The children are working on their project for co-op without arguing.

Evidence of God's grace - God's mercy - God's faithfulness - God's protection - God's provision

Write down all signs of forward momentum. (Your kids are going to peek in here to see what you find noteworthy.) Show them how to celebrate small beginnings and promising signs.

Taking time to document God's particular kindnesses and evidences of grace in your family's life will build your faith for the future and create a family heirloom for future generations.

Weekly Planning Breaks

The Weekly Planner grid is designed for maximum flexibility. You can organize the rows across the top and columns down the left-hand side by day of the week, subject area, or children. If you live in a state that requires documentation, then you can track the number of school days in the blocks as well.

In this example, the blocks show what an individual child must complete in one subject area that week.

If you use a unit study curriculum designed for multiple grade levels, then designate one column or row for work completed as a family.

Plan for little ones as well. Think through what they will do while you are helping an older child.

Put your own daily duties on the grid, too. Then you can see scheduling conflicts in advance and plan to negotiate them. If your kids can also see your time commitments, it will help them anticipate when you might be available.

It is God to whom and with whom we travel, and while He is the end of our journey, He is also at every stopping place.

Notes

He has made everything beautiful in its time. He has also set eternity in the hearts of men; yet they cannot fathom what God has done from beginning to end.

Learning Styles and Thinking Skills

IDENTIFY YOUR CHILD'S LEARNING STYLE

Type A: (Actual-Spontaneous Learner)

must do to learn	inventive
autonomous	outgoing
flexible	seeks adventure and variety
risk-taker	short attention span
competitive	does not like boundaries impulsive

Type B: (Actual-Routine Learner)

methodical	a nurturer by nature
likes rules, routine and tradition	dependable
compliant	not flexible
desires your approval	not inventive
thoughtful and helpful	feeler

Type C: (Conceptual-Specific Learner)

serious-minded	focused interest
inquisitive	easily frustrated
satisfied being alone	perfectionistic
independent learner	detail-oriented
strong powers of concentration	thinker mathematical

Type D: (Conceptual-Global Learner)

thinks big picture	verbal
creative	peacemaker
interested in people	ambitious
enjoys groups	intuitive
outgoing	forgetful
	careless

Learning Styles Inventory (Golay, 1982)

You will find tips for teaching to your child's learning style in chapter 9 of The Ultimate Guide to Homeschooling (Apologia, 2009).

Bloom's Taxonomy of Thinking Skills

When children use higher levels of thinking (i.e., analysis, synthesis, or evaluation) to learn, what they learn is stored in long-term memory and therefore readily recalled.

Knowledge	I remember, I know, I recall, I define, I name, I recognize, I memorize, I repeat, I identify, I list
Comprehension	I understand, I summarize, I explain, I reword, I exemplify, I discuss, I describe, I draw, I match
Application	I use what I know, I research, I demonstrate how, I solve a problem, I perform, I organize, I practice, I calculate, I operate
Analysis	I break down information, I compare and contrast, I note relationships, I categorize, I explain cause and effect, I deduce, I investigate, I experiment, I classify, I discriminate, I probe
Evaluation	I form and support opinions, I justify, I recommend, I predict, I critique, I appraise, I conclude, I choose, I argue, I estimate, I consider
Synthesis	I use what I know to create something new, I plan, I infer, I propose, I invent, I write, I compose, I collect, I modify, I formulate, I arrange, I design, I construct, I generalize

Parents' Guide to the Study-Smart Student Toolkit

What's the difference between an expert learner and one who struggles to process new information? The study-smart student employs learning strategies that I call the Power Tools of Learning. When students use the tools shown on the chart above, many different parts of the brain fire up and come online. And when students are both cognitively and emotionally engaged in what they are learning, they process information more effectively and at a deeper level and can later recall more details of what they've learned.

Our job as parents is to create an environment that allows our students the time and opportunity to use these power tools. Here's how:

- ✓ Focus on the three P's—Projects, Papers, and Performances. These types of activities (as opposed to rote memorization, for example) require kids to organize their time, think through multiple aspects of an assignment, and stay focused on the material over several days or even weeks. This approach fosters total immersion in the new information, and that's when deep processing occurs.
- ✓ Trigger positive emotions. We learn more when we are laughing, happy, experiencing pleasure, or lost in awe and wonder. Curl up on the couch together daily and read aloud. Integrate learning into the relational moments of your family life such as dinner time, vacations, and extended family visits.
- ✓ Build leisure into the school day. While we are at rest, our brains continue to process and store information recently learned. Teach your children to value daydreaming, chasing after rabbit trails, playing outdoors, and watching clouds. A good motto to adopt is "Rigor and rest, rigor and rest." By supplying each in equal parts, your kids will prosper.

Yes, these strategies do require more time than simple memorization. But this is the stuff of deep cognition, and the process cannot be rushed. However, you will find you pick up speed over time for two reasons: First, your children will understand more fully what they have already learned, so re-teaching and reviewing will not be necessary. Secondly, your children will find they love to learn, and this motivation will transform them into independent and lifelong learners, making your job much easier.
